Sculptor | Sculpture Educator | Marble Carving Instructor

Florence, Italy | galliganilorenzo@gmail.com | lorenzogalligani.com

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Florentine sculptor and educator specialising in traditional marble carving, stone sculpture, clay modelling and contemporary sculptural practices. More than fifteen years of teaching experience with Italian and international students and artists, including visiting professorships in Mexico. My teaching combines technical discipline, traditional craftsmanship and individual artistic research, guiding students from the study of form, volume and proportion towards their own sculptural language. Available for sculpture courses, intensive workshops, guest teaching and individual mentoring.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

2010-Present | AD'A Art Academy, Florence Head Sculpture Teacher. Sculpture instruction for students with different levels of experience.

2022-Present | CEA CAPA, Florence Sculpture Instructor; courses and workshops for international students.

2016, 2017, 2019 | Universidad De La Salle Bajío, León, Mexico Visiting Professor in sculpture.

2014-2015 | Liceo dei Colli, Florence Sculpture Instructor; marble workshops and clay modelling.

TEACHING SKILLS AND METHODS

Traditional marble carving and stone sculpture; figurative clay and plasticine modelling; volume, proportion and anatomy for sculptors; preparation of armatures and supporting structures; plaster and silicone mould-making; preparation for bronze casting and sculpture in plaster or resin; project development and one-to-one artistic mentoring.

Teaching progresses from foundational exercises, including the study and reproduction of small plaster models, to the development of original work. Advanced instruction focuses on hand-working marble and stone using traditional techniques.
